

PUBLIC LEDGER

FOURTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1895.

ONE CENT.

LARGEST IN THE CITY.

Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" free any more than a merchant can toss over his counter free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

The Continued Calls

Upon THE LEDGER for free notices have become so burdensome that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Suppers,

excursions, fairs, or other public entertainments where a fee is charged, and for obituary notices, resolutions of respect, etc., THE LEDGER will charge FIVE CENTS A LINE, and hereafter this will be the invariable rule. This, however,

Does Not Include

notices of Lodge meetings or Church services, which must not exceed ten lines.

Avoidance of Disputes.

Misunderstandings are unpleasant. The rate for Business Locals in THE LEDGER is 10 cents a line for the first insertion and 5 cents a line for subsequent insertions. A customer orders a five-line local inserted in the paper. "I'll tell you when to take it out," he says to the bookkeeper. But he forgets all about it. The notice runs for two months—42 times—the bill is $12.25. When he finds it out there is a "kick" and a controversy, followed probably by an icy feeling. Now, to obviate this trouble, no "till told" notices will be accepted hereafter. Let's have a definite agreement at the outset and the termination will be pleasant all around.

All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going out on a visit, please send us a note to that effect.

THE MAN OF THE FUTURE.

What will the man of the future be? What must he do, think you?

Must he rock the cradle, nurse the kids, broil, fry and stew?

Must he do the family knitting and darn the family hose,

Run the family sewing machine and make the family's clothes?

Must he take in washing by the week to eke out the family grub,

While his wife serves on the Committee of the "Advanced Woman's" Club?

Must he wear his hair in a "Payche" knot, his frontlocks in a curl,

And strive his utter utmost to look just like a girl?

Must he wear a pair of striped hose and a dainty ruffled skirt,

Learn the dainty coquette's art and the modern way to flirt?

Wear a bow of ribbon on his head and by name call it a hat,

Must he act as the women used to do and faint if he sees a rat?

Must he squeeze a pair of 5 shoes on a pair of 7 feet,

Then blush and simper, smile and smirk and look divinely sweet?

Must he wear a broad brim "cart wheel" hat when he goes to the matinee,

To preclude the possibility of anyone seeing the play?

Must he spend three hours before the glass when dressing for the hop,

Blush and wear a conscious look when the girls question him?

Read his Congressman's pet silver views and at the children's school,

While his wife sails off to the polls and casts her vote for gold?

In other words must he do and act as the women were wont to do,

For they have quietly hustled him out from his own especial pew.

They are wearing the clothes he used to wear, from a dainty derby hat

To a standing collar, coat and vest and four-in-hand cravat.

With rat-tan cane and bloomer pants they swagger down the street,

And tip their hats quite gracefully to every dude they meet.

Ye Gods, but 'tis pitty that in trying to cut a dash

They cannot grow a curly beard and a silky brown mustache.

You've taken possession now of everything of worth,

Pray, dearest girls, call a halt—you surely don't want the earth.

From law and physic, and, in fact, from every known profession,

You've quietly driven man out and taken forced possession.

In your wild insatiable search for new spheres for yourself,

Without remorse you've quietly laid the poor fellow on the shelf.

We beseech you girls to call a halt and trim your dainty sails,

Don't monopolize the entire earth, but leave something for the mails.

COVINGTON CONFERENCE.

Statistics of the Churches in the Covington District.

The M. E. Conference, in session at Covington, is presided over by Bishop Foss. The following report of Presiding Elder G. R. Frenger of the Covington District will be of interest to our citizens:

The Covington District is composed of seventeen churches, located in Bracken, Campbell, Harrison, Kenton, Mason, Nicholas, Pendleton and Robertson counties.

Rev. R. D. Biven, in charge of Asbury, closed his second year with 20 conversions, 16 accessions and 28 members Epworth League.

Rev. G. N. Jolly of Augusta had 39 conversions, 39 accessions and 53 members Epworth League.

At Bellevue, Rev. W. H. Spybe's charge, the record is 41 accessions and 80 members of Epworth League. There is need for a new church building and action is being taken toward providing the need.

In West Covington Rev. T. J. Anthony, with failing health, had 3 conversions, 8 accessions, and added 33 to Epworth League. Presiding Elder Frenger concludes this report as follows: "While there has not been a revival at every charge, the work in the district is in a good faithful condition."

"The preachers have been faithful in the midst of hard times and the stringency in money matters, which have caused deficiencies in salaries, in some cases these men of God have gone on without murmuring or complaining and all are yet alive to see each others face here. As to my work (says Dr. Frenger) I have preached 133 times; gave several Bible readings and Epworth League talks; held 64 Quarterly Conferences, and traveled over 4,000 miles and have tried to be faithful in the discharge of the duties which have devolved upon me, in the fear of God, for his glory and the advancement of his kingdom."

A pretty girl, a stranger in town, was arrested at Covington in male attire. She would give no explanation of her masquerading, and was locked up by the police.

The gross earnings of the L. and N. for the third week in September were $384,610, a decrease of $9,265 from 1894, an increase of $12,730 over 1893, but a decrease of $53,680 as compared with 1892.

The Smith and Hysong meeting at Lawrence Creek is still in progress, but will close tomorrow night. There will be a Baptizing at the river near Broshers tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock. Nineteen confessions to date.

Peter Herel, a German living in the Southern part of Vanceburg, lies on a bed of agony from the effects of a dose of poison administered, as he claims, by his wife. Doctors are working on him, but they have no hopes of saving his life.

The City Council of Covington has discovered a house in that city which has no owner. It has been occupied for some time by a family, but they do not know whose property it is, as no one has ever attempted to collect rent from them.

Captain Lewis Sowards, aged ninety-seven years, died at his home in Pike county Sunday. He was a member of the Kentucky Legislature in 1834 and was the first man to steer a raft down the Big Sandy. The Captain has had his coffin in readiness for several years and would often get in it to see if it fit him.

Fresh Oysters.

I will receive daily fresh Bulk Oysters, and families wanting them nice can get them in any quantity. P. Lutz & Co.

THE OLD—THE NEW.

Maysville's Long-Famous Saloon Changes Ownership.

"Forsake not an old friend; for the new is not comparable unto him; a new friend is as new wine; when it is old thou shalt drink it with pleasure."—Ecclesiastes, ix, 10.

This pertinent advice is from that great storehouse of wisdom—the Bible—and who shall say that it is not perfectly logical and eminently forcible?

If you would have friends, do not forsake the old ones. You know you will ever be welcome to their presence. There may be doubts and misgivings in the case of new ones.

A few days since the "St. Charles" changed hands, and a brief sketch of this old time saloon may not be uninteresting; for while the ownership changes, the high character of the establishment will remain the same as maintained for nearly a half century past.

This popular resort was first opened in 1848 by Mr. A. R. Peirce, who is still a citizen of Maysville, and it has been the "St. Charles" continuously ever since—a period of forty-seven years.

A year later he sold out, and some three years after he again became owner, continuing the business for several years, giving to the house a reputation that at once won for it the favors of the best classes.

In the period between 1854 and 1866 there were several changes, when about the latter time the house passed into the hands of Mr. Erastus Lambden, who has so successfully conducted it up to the present change.

Last week Mr. Edward Glenn became proprietor.

Of Mr. Lambden, it can be said that he made the "St. Charles" a part of himself. A gentleman of refinement, there was everywhere about it the same spirit; a man scrupulously upright and honest in all things, he required the same standards from his employees; a man of high character, his house was a part of that character. He was the friend of every person who was worthy the friendship of any man—and countless times of those who were not. These were his guiding stars; and who shall wonder that "Tuce" Lambden was regarded, from New York to California, as the model saloon proprietor, or that the "St. Charles" had given Maysville a reputation throughout the whole continent?

In his retirement from active pursuits, Mr. Lambden carries with him the best wishes of the legions who know him, and they will always hope that his lines may be cast in pleasant places. It is gratifying to know, however, that he will continue his home in Maysville.

The new proprietor, Mr. Edward Glenn, is no stranger here. He has long been connected with the house, and knows the demands of its trade. Its high character of the past will be safe in his hands for the future. He, too, will make the establishment a part of his own life, characterizing it by courteous treatment and straightforwardness in all things. With Mr. Glenn will be associated Mr. Robert M. Willett, who for nearly thirty years has been an attaché, a gentleman who has no superior in his line; and with these two "old friends" and old faces so long familiar to the patrons of the "St. Charles," there's no need of looking for that "new friend" which "is as new wine," but cling to the old and "thou shalt drink with pleasure."

Regular meeting of Joe Helsar W. R. C. Saturday night. All members are requested to be present.

Miss KATIE BOYER, President.
